Theme— The Alass

Details in today's Gospel encourage us to think of the resurrection as the gift of God's love. The cloth around Jesus' head—so carefully mentioned—takes us back to the raising of Lazarus and the words of the witnesses, "See how he loved him!" (Jn 11:36). It is the disciple whom Jesus lived who first comes to faith. In a word, coming to resurrection faith is a movement of the heart, that is, letting ourselves be so loved by God and loving in return.

Reflection

Consider the Lilies

Consider the lilies, the ocean and sky,
Magnolias in moonlight, geese flying by...
Consider the seasons, summer and spring,
With lilacs and roses, and robins to sing.
Consider the mountains covered with snow,
The gold leaves of autumn falling below...
Consider orange blossoms filling the air
With magical moments we always will share.

Consider the stars we never have seen,
The glory of Easter when everything's green...
Consider the tides; they come and they go,
And man cannot change the ebb and the flow.
Consider the sunrise, the birth of each day,
The passing of time, for nothing can stay...
Consider the lilies in beauty arrayed,
For each is a treasure the Master has made!
