Theme— The Mass

At the Last Supper, Jesus announces and promises the Holy Spirit to the disciples. He calls the Spirit 'the paraclete', literally 'the one who is called to be at your side'. Sometimes the word is translated as 'consoler'. What greater consolation can anyone give than the consolation of their presence through thick and thin.

Reflection

Consider the Lilies

Consider the lilies, the ocean and sky,
Magnolias in moonlight, geese flying by...
Consider the seasons, summer and spring,
With lilacs and roses, and robins to sing.
Consider the mountains covered with snow,
The gold leaves of autumn falling below...
Consider orange blossoms filling the air
With magical moments we always will share.

Consider the stars we never have seen,
The glory of Easter when everything's green...
Consider the tides; they come and they go,
And man cannot change the ebb and the flow.
Consider the sunrise, the birth of each day,
The passing of time, for nothing can stay...
Consider the lilies in beauty arrayed,
For each is a treasure the Master has made!
